A HANDS-ON DAY FOR HOGS AND FROGS
Nice weather and a few hundred Harley Davidson motorcyclists helped fuel a strong turnout Saturday for Mollycoddle Day. "There were more (road race) racers and more ducks (in the duck race), and more people for the fireworks than I've ever seen," said Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce executive director Robin Zinchuk. The turnout of frogs and kids for the Frog Jumping Contest (inset) was also good. For more photos and results of the day's events, see page 10.

In a reversal, this emergency comes right at its responders

By ALISON ALOISIO

EMT training doesn't get more realistic than this.

Cabot Stone, an EMT instructor with Wilderness Medical Associates is teaching a month-long class at the Sunday River Inn in Newry. His students, from all over the U.S., are here to learn both general EMT skills and rescue techniques specific to wilderness situations. Most have had some basic EMT or wilderness first responder experience.

Last Friday, around midnight, Stone was coming out of a cabin next to the inn. Inside the inn, many of his students were still up, studying their manuals for the intensive course.

Stone suddenly became aware of the sound of a vehicle rapidly approaching from the direction of Bethel.

The inn is located on a sharp curve at the beginning of the Skiway Access Road. "I heard him coming up the road," said Stone. "I thought, 'He isn't going to make (the turn).'"

Sure enough, the vehicle slid over to the guardrail, then rolled and flipped end-over-end several times. It finally landed right side up in the opposite lane. It had passed within about 20 feet of Stone.

Newry F.D. is shopping for a new ladder truck

By ALISON ALOISIO

With its 1969 ladder truck out of commission, the Newry Fire Department is testing out new trucks for a possible replacement.

The town needs a ladder truck to reach the upper floors of the Jordan Grand and Summit hotels at Sunday River Ski Resort. The two structures are among the 10 highest hotels in the state. A ladder truck is also needed to reach the upper stories of several other buildings at the skiway, as well as some locations in Bethel.

The ladder on the town's 35-year-old truck has holes in it and is not safe to use, said chief Gary Wight. For now, the closest available ladder truck is in Andover or Mexico. Newry shares mutual aid with those towns, but it would take Andover or Mexico about 45 minutes to get to Newry, he said.

Rumford also owns a truck, but it, too, is not currently operable, Wight said.

The Newry department has learned it would cost $60,000 to repair the current ladder. At that price, firefighters decided it made sense to look at other options.

A new truck can cost anywhere from $500,000 to $750,000, Wight said. A used one can range from $250,000 to $500,000, depending on age.

Last week, a manufacturer brought a new truck to the area for the department to inspect. This week, there'll be another. The department hopes to try out three to five different trucks.

More help is now near at hand in heart crises

By ALISON ALOISIO

Automated external defibrillators are now riding with Bethel police and firefighters, ready to provide cardiac first aid a few critical minutes before Bethel Rescue arrives.

Several members of the Police and Fire departments received training on the use of the devices last week. The battery-operated AED units measure about eight by five inches, and weigh 3.5 pounds.

Five of the devices, purchased through federal grant money awarded to rural towns and agencies earlier this year, are now in place in the Bethel area. Two others are at Telstar and Crescent Park schools, and a third is with the Gilead Fire Department.

"I think it's a wonderful idea," said Dustin Howe, ambulance director for Bethel. "It will be nice to have them with someone who may get there quicker than we do."

The devices are relatively simple to use because, when turned on, a display instructs the user step-by-step how to proceed. Shocking the patient is not always advised, and the AED automatically evaluates the heart activity after it is hooked up to the person's chest. It then gives a message whether to administer a shock or not.

The devices cost about $1,300 each.

For Darren Tripp, Bethel's police chief, this is another step in a process that is providing his department with many of the tools available to EMTs.

It started with a well-equipped first aid kit, provided by Bethel Rescue's Arlene Greenleaf five years ago. Then, a couple of years ago, the department received a unit to administer oxy-

Swim pond bids to be opened Monday

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Contractors' bids are scheduled to be opened Monday for Bethel's long-awaited swimming pond and recreational area.

Four contractors, all local, were invited to bid on the project, which was laid out at a two-and-a-half-hour preconstruction conference on July 10.

Three of these contractors are expected to turn in bids by Monday. They include Jack Cross and D.A. Wilson and Co. of Bethel, and Bancroft Construction of South Paris.

The fourth company invited to bid, Swasey Excavation of Andover, was interested in working on the project, but due to its own work commitments would not have been able to meet the town's timetable, according to Town Manager Scott Cole.

No other contractors were invited to bid and the project was not advertised, Cole said.

He told town selectmen last week that the Bethel Beach Committee, which is overseeing the project, recommended the local-only bidding process.

"The Beach Committee recommended a competitive bid process with local contractors deemed capable of doing the work, based on a past record of quality work and getting jobs done in a timely manner," Cole said.

The selectmen raised no objection

ALTERNATIVE FUEL, EARLY 20TH CENTURY STYLE—A Stanley Steamer was a popular draw at Saturday's third annual Telstar Car Show. The steam-powered 1924 car, owned by Mark and Debbie Smith, took first place in the prewar to 1942 category. The money made on admissions at the show was double what it was last year, according to organizer Linda Howe. Seventy-two cars from decades of the past and present took part. Proceeds will benefit Project Graduation and a scholarship fund for Telstar students pursuing careers in auto technology.

Greenwood officials steam over collections of less-than-classic cars

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Two Greenwood property owners are facing possible fines of up to $2,500 for not removing or otherwise dealing with abandoned cars and other piles of junk on their land.

And town selectmen are due to meet early next month to decide how to deal with a similar — but less severe — junkyard situation on a property owned by a former selectman.

The problem of a handful of property owners littering their yards with abandoned vehicles is a perennial and seemingly intractable irritant for rural towns.

In the case of the two Greenwood owners facing legal action and possible fines, the town has been attempting to deal with one of the situations for several years, the other for several months.

Both properties are in the Rowe Hill area of town.

TELSTAR CAR SHOW THANKS

To the Editor:

The third annual Telstar Car Show was held on Mollycoddett Day. Spectators were treated to view an awesome collection of cars, trucks and motorcycles. The show would not be possible without the efforts of the entire local community. The Friends of Telstar would like to thank the many businesses and individuals who helped make the show come to life. The Car Show Planning team was Ken Cole, Dusty Chapman, Gina Douglass, Linda Howe, Jim Lunney, Marilyn Swan, Grayson Wakefield, and Brenda Wight.

The star field stakes were made by Tim O'Connor's woodworking class and Jim Swan did the excellent detail work.

The free shuttle service was provided by Western Maine Transportation Services with Glen Gordon at the wheel. Supporting the show were Oxford Networks, Roland Glover, and Western Maine Supply Co. The Friends of Telstar would also like to give special thanks to Frank and Gloria Burgess for their volunteer help and helpful suggestions on creating the show.

The Friends of Telstar appreciate all the efforts of the community to make this show take place on Mollycoddett Day. When the community stands behind its public schools and the students who attend them, great events can become a reality. It truly does take a village to raise a child.

On behalf of the Friends of Telstar we extend our heartfelt thanks and appreciation to the Greater Bethel Community.

BIKE RALLY THANKS

To the Editor:

On behalf of the 345 participants of the Maine Bike Rally, the Bicycle Coalition of Maine and organizing committee and organizations, we would like to thank Bethel, and particularly Gould Academy, for hosting our best rally yet. For the 15th annual Maine Bike Rally, we had 30 rides from three to 100 miles long with many of these rides led by local bicyclists. Indeed, we had over 60 local bicyclists participate. Even Congressman Michael Michaud joined us for a bike parade down to Bethel's beautiful bike path, dinner, and the first ever, Bicycle Safety Fashion Show.

We've again received rave reviews from the participants for the friendly community, idyllic scenery, and world-class bicycling of the region. Bethel has again proven to be a mecca for bicycling and bicycle tourism. In thanks to the citizens of Bethel and Gould Academy, the Maine Bike Rally paid for the four new bicycle racks for the village and the campus.

One of the goals of the Maine Bike Rally is to highlight some of the best biking Maine has to offer. After two years in one community, we move along to highlight another great place. We are pleased to announce the next Maine Bike Rally will be in Belfast, July 9 to 11, 2004 and hope that you can join us. Be sure to check out our Web site, www.BikeMaine.org in the months ahead for details about next year and to see a photo album from this year's successful event.

We would also like to thank Nancy White, Nancy Eaton, and Rick Churchill for their leadership as the rally co-chairs. Working with many other local committee members and the community, they have done an excellent job showing bicyclists all the Bethel region has to offer. Again, our thanks to everyone for your hospitality.

Jeffrey Miller
Executive Director, Bicycle Coalition of Maine

DECIDE FOR YOURSELVES

To the Editor:

To correct Mr. Daniels' statement in the July 17 issue of this paper — The Site Plan Review application is one application. The application is for review of the site for the project. All other 34 applications that were reviewed by the Planning Board during my application process were found to be complete; the board then reviews the Finding of Facts for items still needed, if any, and then granted an approval, or approval with conditions. Why wasn't the Community Attributes application? I would dare say that my application is the only application that has ever been denied in the history of the Bethel Planning Board concerning a renovation of an existing building.

The following letter is the request letter from the Human Rights Commission investigator of my case and her reasons for administrative dismissal. I believe Mr. Daniels should have printed this letter along with last week's letter that he received from the town office and chose to print. Decide for yourselves if the decision to dismiss this case on the ground stated by Susan Clark, investigator, justify Ms. Ryan's decision to dismiss.

The Human Rights Commission's investigator, Barbara Lilli, wrote this complaint of sex discrimination; I asked for a gender and class discrimination and was told by Ms. Lilli that my gender nor my class are protected by the Human Rights Act.

Darlene Corriveau
Applicant and Developer

Reply: According to Bethel Planning Assistant Elizabeth Cooper, the Citizen's July 17 description accurately reflects what in fact went on with Darlene Corriveau's application. On Aug. 14, 2002 the Planning Board found her "Site Plan Application" complete (which means only that the applicant has provided the minimum information required for the board to begin reviewing the merits of the plan). At that time the board also noted that additional information still needed to be included in the "site plan" itself (one component of the overall Site Plan Application). On Oct. 23 the board voted on whether to approve the application, and they rejected it — noting once again the lack of certain information in the "site plan" component. Corriveau then appealed to the town's Appeals Board, whose members on Dec. 10 rejected — unanimously — her appeal, thus upholding the Planning Board's decision.

As regards the "letter" (actually, an internal Human Rights Commission memo) from investigator Susan Clark to Executive Director Patricia Ryan, The Citizen did not have a copy at the time last week's edition was being prepared, but we did have, and did print, the executive director's explanation to Corriveau of why her complaint to that agency was being administratively dismissed. On Monday, Corriveau gave us a copy of the memo, which is more detailed and is reprinted below. We trust it does indeed contain information that will assist any concerned readers in evaluating for themselves both the validity of Corriveau's various claims of discrimination and reasoning of the Human Rights Commission investigator who examined those claims.

TO: Patricia Ryan, Executive Director

FROM: Susan Clark, Investigator

RE: Corriveau v. Bethel Planning Board

1. I am requesting administrative dismissal of the above charge due to failure to substantiate a claim under the Maine Human Rights Act. Specifically:

a) Complainant sought to build a large public complex. Complainant filed a charge alleging that her application was excessively scrutinized because she is female.

b) Parties agree that many other people — both male and female — have had projects approved with comparatively little scrutiny.

2. Complainant asserts that she is not just being singled out because she is female but rather that the scrutiny is more individual, and that it is because of "who she is" and the nature of her project. She states that no one — male or female — has been treated the way she has. She specifically mentions:

a) Wealthy or "upper-class" people are treated better by the Planning Board than people who are not "upper class" in terms of money or property. She believes her lack of wealth was a factor in this matter. She points to female applicant "Fran," (whose project was in some ways comparable to Complainant's) was quickly approved, and notes that "Fran's" husband owns a great deal of property. Complainant asserts that the Planning Board makes its decisions based on one's place in the community in the estimation of others ... The upper class ... truly have no problem impeding the rights of the lower class with their bias as to who can apply, how they will apply, and if they will be allowed to speak or be recognized. They are prejudiced as to how that class in their own personal opinion should ... be treated or (allowed to) pursue happiness. ... (Note: this explanation for the allegedly excessive scrutiny does not describe a violation of the Maine Human Rights Act.)

b) Complainant also believes that the Board did not like the nature of her project, because it is designed to serve "displaced persons." She makes a strong case that this was a crucial factor in the problems she experienced in trying to get her plan through the town process. She states the Board prefers to approve projects that will draw in tourist dollars rather than projects that serve the underprivileged. "They did everything to discredit me, and destroy my project. I truly believe this is because this project is targeted to train and educate the low and moderate income people who have been displaced, because of development towards tourism. This project also makes note of the lack of social responsibility to these people by the Town of Bethel." (This explanation for the allegedly excessive scrutiny does not describe a violation of the Maine Human Rights Act.)

c) Both parties claim that the fact that Complainant used neither an architect nor an engineer in creating her building plan was a factor in the scrutiny. (This explanation for the alleged scrutiny does not describe a violation of the Maine Human Rights Act.)

d) Complainant states that one Planning Board member has various conflicts of interest and his goal is to further his own development projects at the expense of the Complainant's. (Note: this explanation for the scrutiny does not describe a violation of the Maine Human Rights Act.)

3. Complainant has provided a variety of explanations for Respondent's actions which are unrelated to sex. Based solely on Complainant's description of the situation, it is not possible to say that the problems Complainant has faced occurred because she is a woman.

In our back yard

Maine's lakes depend on your eyes

Whether you're weed wise or plant puzzled, vigilance is the first defense against invasive aquatic plants.

Just in case you haven't heard, Maine is under attack. Nasty sounding intruders such as Fanwort, European Frogbit and Curly-leaved Pondweed lie just over our state borders, awaiting the opportunity to hitchhike into Maine on a boat prop, trailer or anchor line.

These three are among 11 invasive aquatic plants that threaten Maine's waterways — and our enjoyment of them. Newcomers to the state, having no natural enemies to keep them in check; these aggressive weeds quickly displace Maine's native plants. In time, a naturally diverse pond or lake can degrade to the point that it's uninhabitable for fish out to 30 feet in depth.

So far, Maine's been lucky in its war against aquatic weeds. Infestations have been found in only 12 of our 6,000 lakes and ponds, and only two species are involved. Variable-leaf water milfoil has a grip on 11 ponds while hydrilla, the most threatening of all invasive plants, is established in one.

At this point, Maine has a fighting chance to prevent further infestation. However, to be successful, we must all keep a most powerful weapon at the ready — our eyes.

Take last year's discovery of Maine's only hydrilla infestation as an example. Noticing the weed's rapid growth around his dock, a Pickerel Pond resident asked the Voluntary Lake Monitoring Program (VLMP) to identify the suspicious plant. Soon after, Maine DEP confirmed the finding and is now responding with a control program for preventing hydrilla's spread to other ponds.

Watchful eyes also play a vital role whenever a boat leaves a body of water. Even the smallest amount of vegetation left on a boat, boating equipment or fishing tackle can add another lake or pond to our list of invaded waters. That's why lake associations, towns and fishing clubs throughout Maine are organizing to make boat inspection a routine part of boating fun.

Of course not all aquatic plants are invasive troublemakers, so it's important that our vigilance not escalate into indiscriminate action. Native rooted plants play a huge role in maintaining the quality of Maine waters, and they should not be disturbed before seeking guidance from DEP's Land and Water Bureau (287-3901). So while occasionally dragging a boat through rushes or swimming alongside slithering plants may be annoying, it isn't necessarily a sign of an invasive threat.

What's the best bet for determining which plant is friend or foe? Contact biologists at VLMP (225-2070) or Maine's Invasive Species Program at DEP (800-452-1942). Share your eyes with these scientists to preserve Maine's great waterways. For more information, see the DEP Invasive Aquatic Plants web page at www.state.me.us/dep/blwq/topic/invasives/index.htm.

"In our back yard" is a column of the Maine Department of Environmental Protection. E-mail your environmental questions to: infodep@state.me.us or send them to: "In our backyard," Maine DEP, 17 State House Station, Augusta, ME 04333.

Road rally to return to Concord Pond

WOODSTOCK—About 100 cars will be traveling the Concord Pond Road Aug. 1 as part of the 12th annual Maine Forest Pro Rally. The road will be closed to other traffic from 7 to 9 p.m., when the cars will pass through, according to Tammi Lyons of the River Valley Chamber of Commerce. This will be the second year the rally has traveled the road as part of the race. There were some concerns from residents last year about possible damage to the road, but town officials said after the race people were satisfied the rally organizers had restored the road to its previous condition — and in some cases improved it. This year, a plan calls for putting down calcium chloride over a mile stretch of the dirt road to minimize dust. After the race, the road will again be inspected to see what repair work may be needed.

Man crushed by slab

PERU—A Rumford man was killed when the base of a chimney collapsed on him as he was working at a friend's house in Peru. State police say 42-year-old James Wing died on his way to the Rumford hospital after the accident at about 4:30 p.m. Monday. Trooper Abbe Chabot says Wing was helping the homeowner, Arthur White, and three other men dig a drainage ditch around the foundation of the Gammon Road home to repair water leakage into the basement. The work apparently weakened a cement slab supporting the chimney. The slab collapsed into the ditch, crushing Wing.

Teen pleads guilty in highway death

AUBURN—A West Paris teenager pled guilty Friday in Androscoggin County Superior Court to a manslaughter charge in the highway death of an Oxford Hills High School football star. Joshua Mason was behind the wheel of a pickup truck that rolled over Aug. 5, 2002, in Mechanic Falls, killing Travis Van Durme, 18, who was in the passenger seat. Deputy District Attorney Craig Turner declined to say what he will recommend for a sentence. Manslaughter is punishable by up to 20 years in prison.

Last woolen operation to shut down

OXFORD—Robinson Manufacturing Co. announced last week it will shut down its woolen textile operation and lay off 70 employees. The shutdown will take place over the next few months. About 16 employees will continue the dyeing and finishing of goods sold on commission and through the Oxford Mill End Store. The 150-year-old, family-run company was the last remaining woolen operation in the state. It made material for Union Army uniforms during the Civil War. Robinson Mfg. had invested $25 million in equipment in recent years to try to compete with foreign companies. But, said company president Joseph Robinson, it wasn't enough. The employees who will lose their jobs will be eligible for retraining under the Trade Adjustment Assistance Act. Some had worked for the company for decades.

Tax rate will decline

WEST PARIS—Selectmen last week set the 2003 property tax rate at 15.7 mils, down from the 2002 rate of 16.2. The reduction was made possible, said chairman Wade Rainey, by the completion of the tax equalization program over the past year by Tax Appraisers of Maine.

Carey named ASC marketing VP

PARK CITY, UTAH—Chip Carey has been named by the American Skiing Co. to the position of senior vice president of sales and marketing. A 31-year-veteran of the skiing and hospitality industries, Carey will assume all sales and marketing responsibilities for the company's seven resorts and report directly to president and CEO B.J. Fair. Prior to this appointment, Carey served as vice president of marketing and communications for The Canyons, in Park City. He spent the previous 26 years at Sugarloaf/USA, where he was vice president of marketing and sales before transferring to Park City. ASC is the parent company of Sunday River Ski Resort.

Camp for young field hockey players

BETHEL—A day camp for beginning field hockey players (grades four through six) will be offered from Aug. 11 through 15 by the Telstar High School varsity field hockey team. The cost is $60, and includes a T-shirt. Applications may be picked up between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m., Monday through Friday, at the Crescent Park Elementary School or the SAD44 Superintendent's Office. Deadline is Aug. 1. For more information call 665-3235 or 824-3191.

Blood drive at SMH

NORWAY—Stephens Memorial Hospital (SMH) and the Maine Blood Center will hold a blood drive on Wednesday, July 30 from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the hospital's Harper Conference Center in the Ripley Medical Building in Norway. All of the blood collected during this drive will remain in Maine. Each donor will receive a complimentary T-shirt in appreciation of their support. "Blood is desperately needed this summer and so we are hopeful that the community will respond to assist us in reaching our goal of 100 donors," said Tim Ingram, director of clinical diagnostics at SMH. According to the Maine Blood Center blood supplies in Maine are critically low. The shortage is due in part to decreased donations because regular donors are on vacation, while at the same time the demand is always greater during the summer months. For more information, and to make an appointment to donate, call 742-5933 ext. 432. Walk-ins are also welcome.

Everyone's a senior citizen for meal

WATERFORD—A free "Seniors and Citizens" meal will be offered Friday at noon at the Waterford Fairgrounds, as part of the World's Fair. Organizer Dr. Lawrence Murch said the definition of "seniors" has been expanded this year to include anyone over 50 — but people of all ages are welcome. "If you show up at the fairgrounds, you're going to get a free meal, compliments of the fair," he said. Cakes will be offered as door prizes. The menu meal includes fat-free Hormel ham, macaroni and cheese, green beans, rolls/butter, iced tea and cake. Music will be provided by the Felt Band. "And it will all be over by 2:30, so everyone can go home and take their nap," said Murch.

LURC to hold hearing on zoning

RANGELEY—The Maine Land Use Regulation Commission will hold a public hearing Aug. 12 on updated land use zoning maps for townships and plantations in portions of Oxford and Franklin County. Changes have been prompted by either correction of errors, or the addition of new wetland zones identified within the commission's revised wetland protection rules. Interested people may attend and offer oral testimony. The hearing is scheduled for the Rangeley Inn and Conference Center at 6:30 p.m. Staff will also be available from 4 to 5:30 p.m. to answer questions about the draft maps. Affected areas in the Bethel region include the following townships and plantations: Albany, Mason, Sandy River, Andover North Surplus, Andover West Surplus, Grafton, Milton, and Riley. The hearing record will remain open for 10 days, until Aug. 22, to allow those interested to file written statements, and for an additional seven days, until Aug. 29, to file written statements in rebuttal of earlier statements. Copies of the draft zoning maps are available at the commission's office in Augusta or at regional office (for more info call 287-2631 or e-mail ellen.jackson@maine.gov).

From the Bethel Police Log:

Lost boy returned to grandpa

At 8:40 p.m. police received information regarding a possible lost child on the common. The officer brought him to the gazebo to make an announcement for the guardians. No one came forward. The officer later looked for a vehicle the child described. He found it, along with the grandfather of the young man. The boy was returned to his grandfather.

Thursday, July 17

At 2:20 p.m. a subject was involved in an accident on the Sunday River Road. A check showed his Massachusetts license had been suspended. Charles Z. Schiess, 24, of Canton, Mass. was summonsed for operating after suspension.

Friday, July 18

At 1:15 a.m., while the officer was stopped on the Barker Road, a car pulled up behind him. A pickup truck then came up at a high speed, nearly hitting the other car. The officer turned around to stop the truck, and the driver ran into the woods. The vehicle was towed.

At 1 p.m. police issued summonses to Mace Blaisdell, 23, of Bethel for imprudent speed and unnecessary noise as a result of an incident on Route 2.

Saturday, July 19

At 10 a.m. an intoxicated male was observed on Broad Street walking around with an open bottle of beer. An officer confiscated the beer and the subject was advised any further problems would result in arrest.

to the process used for bidding. "I've received a little bit of static about that process," said Reggie Brown, "but I personally don't have a problem with it."

Others agreed. The selectmen also agreed to contract with the Oxford County Soil and Water Conservation District — which prepared the bid documentation — to oversee the contractor's work.

OCSWCD has been involved with the project throughout its three-year planning process, said selectman Don Bennett, who also serves as Beach Committee chairman.

The district will be paid $38 an hour for its inspection service.

The town currently has approximately $150,000 on hand for the project.

Following Monday's bid opening, a review period of seven to ten days is expected, following which the selectmen will be asked at their next meeting (Aug. 18) to authorize execution of the contract.

Assuming an acceptable bid is received, and a contract is authorized, digging is expected to begin almost immediately.

"We've been advised by the experts that the ideal time to excavate is late August, early September," Cole said.

"This thing is live now," Cole said. "Everybody's happy. We've gone through probably six different (contract) drafts, to keep tweaking things like depth of sand, how to approach de-watering."

The new facility, including the one-acre swimming pond, is to be built on a five-acre parcel of land donated to the town by Ernest and Alberta Angevine.

The site, which straddles Chapman Brook is located on the North Road, approximately two miles from the intersection with Route 2.

Junkyard

Malcolm McLean's garage is located on the Greenwood Road, between Rowe Hill Road and Twitchell Pond. The yard is littered with old, unregistered cars and trucks, as well as other debris.

Town officials believe the garage serves also as at least a part-time residence for McLean, although his legal mailing address is in New Hampshire (the few registered cars that turn up in the yard usually have New Hampshire plates).

Over the years officials have given McLean numerous verbal and written warnings, and in 2000 he was ordered by District Court to put up a fence.

The fence went up around part of the yard the following year, but a half dozen old vehicles are still visible, most parked within a few feet of the road.

In its latest attempt to deal with the situation, the town has filed a complaint in Superior Court, arguing that despite "many requests to remove the offending personal property. ... defendant has refused and continues to refuse to bring his land use into compliance with State law."

The complaint requests the court to order McLean to correct the violations, to have him pay the town's legal costs, and to assess a penalty.

The second problem property is on the other (Indian Pond) side of Rowe Hill, at the residence of Douglas Grover.

Grover's yard, which is set sharply downhill from the road, has (in addition to various other materials) a sufficient number of abandoned automobiles to qualify as a junkyard and require screening by a fence, according to Town Manager Carol Whitman.

The town's attorney, Alan Perry of Kurtz & Perry, has spoken with Grover and given him until July 28 to clean up the property, Whitman said.

Grover is also being asked to pay the town's cost in the matter.

That request has so far been made informally, rather than through the legal system, Whitman said.

"We don't want to come down too hard on him," she said. "We just want these things to be taken care of."

If things are not taken care of soon, Whitman said, the matter will be taken to court.

The third problem property is in the Greenwood City part of town, where Norman Millett owns a parcel of land that can be seen from both the Greenwood and Patch Mountain roads.

From the two roads, abandoned vehicles and various piles of other junk can be seen. "He just loves to collect stuff," Whitman said.

In this case, however, the property owner, himself a former selectman, is already taking steps to correct the problem.

Millett has applied for a junkyard permit, Whitman said, and has said he will screen the property.

The selectmen are expected to review and evaluate all three situations at their next meeting, which is scheduled for Aug. 5.

gen to people in cardiac or respiratory distress. According to hospital staff who later treated them, four people were likely saved by the quick availability of oxygen, Tripp said.

He said there have been eight to 10 incidents during the five years he has been chief that would likely have warranted use of the AED, had his officers had them. In those cases, police performed CPR until rescue personnel arrived.

And Tripp hopes the AED instruction isn't the end of first aid training for police. Sometime in the future, he said, he would like to have EMT courses offered.

"I'd like to see each officer certified," he said. Currently, one officer has the certification.

READY TO DEFIBRILLATE
Bethel police and firefighters are now carrying Automated External Defibrillators (AEDs — left) to use on heart attack victims, while waiting for rescue personnel to arrive. The instrument weighs about 3.5 pounds.

hard-to-reach places (at the ski way)," said Wight, to see what brand might be the most maneuverable.

For example, they're driving the trucks up the steep grades at the Locke Mountain townhouses and the Jordan Grand Hotel.

"If we can reach everything up there, we should be able to reach anything (in neighboring towns)," said Wight.

Newry has traditionally provided ladder coverage for Bethel, Greenwood, Woodstock, Gilead, Riley and Mason.

In Bethel, buildings that might require a ladder truck in the event of a fire are the Bethel and Victoria inns, Odeon Hall, and several buildings at Gould Academy, according to Jim Young, Bethel fire chief. The Newry truck was used in a fire at the Victoria Inn in the late 1980s.

Bethel had a ladder truck until about 15 years ago, Young said. Like the Newry vehicle, its ladder failed. Newry bought its truck not long after.

Newry has two of the 10 tallest hotels in Maine.

Used truck an option

Wight said the department would consider a used truck, but there is some skepticism about it "because in 10 or 15 years we'd be back in the same boat."

Newry has applied for grant funds from the Federal Emergency Management Agency to help pay for a new truck, if the town decides a purchase is the best choice.

"We realize it's a big chunk of change," said Wight. "It will come down to what we need and what the townspeople think."

The department hopes to have a recommendation late this year or early next year, in time for the 2004 Town Meeting.

"If anyone needs a ladder truck, it's Newry," said Ken Dixon, Andover fire chief.

Dixon said Andover has only three or four buildings, including the Town Hall, for which his department's 1974 truck would be needed. But, he said, the 100-foot ladder is often used to fight chimney fires from the street, sparing firefighters from climbing onto roofs.

EMTs

who heard the crash, ran to the vehicle, a truck. The young male driver was crawling out when they got there.

He did not appear to be seriously injured, but Stone and the others knew better than to assume that.

Coincidentally, said Stone, "Everything we had to do that night, we had talked about that day."

The class had just covered dealing with car accidents, and the importance of immobilizing victims in case of spinal injury.

"It was like the class just continued," said student Jay Jewett of Winthrop.

Jewett and Amy Ho of Colorado, together with Stone and Pete Tilney, another instructor, worked together to calm the victim, keep him still, and eventually put him on one of their backboards as a precaution.

In the meantime, others among the dozen or so students who rushed outside called 911, directed traffic, and otherwise helped organize the effort.

Bruce Pierce of Newry, a first responder with the Fire Department, came to help. About 20 minutes after the call to 911, Med-Care ambulance of Rumford arrived.

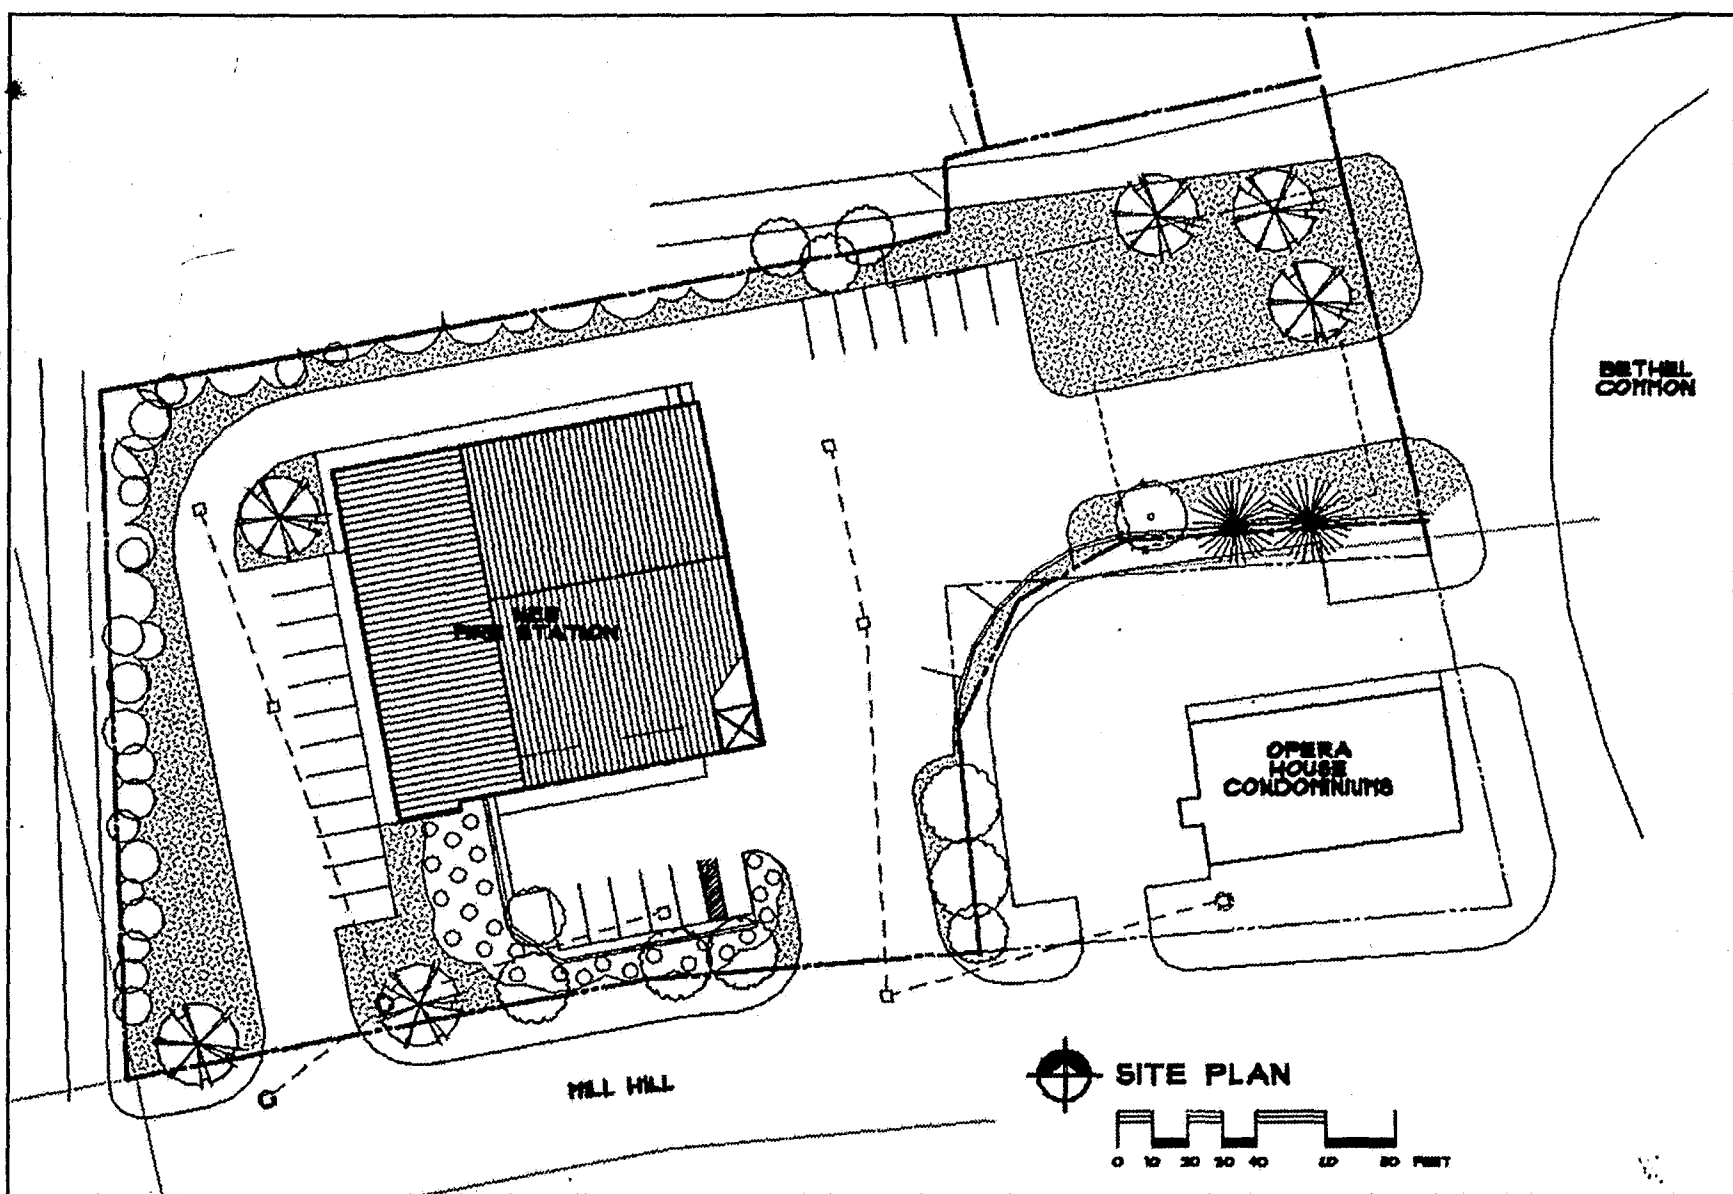

And forty-five minutes after the accident happened, the driver was on his way to the hospital for a precautionary check.

Stone and students returned to the inn, and the "class" continued until about 3 a.m. They evaluated their performance, discussed what they might do to improve, and generally unwound after the experience.

"They did a great job," said Stone.

The circumstances of this hands-on experience were new even to him. "I've been an EMT for 26 years, but I was never there to watch an accident happen," he said.

Wilderness Medical Associates has an office in Bryant Pond, but the organization provides wilderness emergency instruction all over the world. Stone is from upstate New York.

NEW FIRE STATION ENTRANCE PLAN

In response to concerns raised by abutters regarding the layout of the original entrance plan for Bethel's new fire station, town selectmen are proposing a new plan (left) that separates fire station traffic from traffic on L'Auberge Lane. In the original plan the fire station egress was not separated from the right of way to L'Auberge, which raised safety and snow removal concerns from inn owner Adam Adler and neighboring property owner Jenna Smith. In the new plan, an island of greenspace separates the two traffic flows. (The original plan did call for greenspace between the fire station egress and the Opera House parking lot.) Fire trucks leaving the station in the direction of Main Street will now pass between the two greenspaces, passing over the footprint (dashed lines) of the current station. The new, much larger (10,400 square foot) station is to be built behind the current station, which will remain in use until its replacement is ready for operation. The new building is expected to be completed by late next spring, according to Town Manager Scott Cole. The Bethel Planning Board was scheduled to take up the new entrance plan at its meeting yesterday (Wednesday) evening. (Plan: Smith, Reuter Lull Architects)

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

Sharon Bouchard's column is published by special arrangement with the Advertising Department of this newspaper.

I'm sure that you have heard the old saying, "If you live with someone long enough, you start to look like them."

Even though Henry and I have been together for over 33 years, I really don't think that we have started to look at all alike. He's tall and a man, I'm short and a woman. What has happened though, is that we have started to forget alike. It now takes both of us to recall one memory.

There is another old saying; my rememberer isn't working so good, but my forgetter is working great.

After living together for 33 years a couple shares a lot of the same memories, or in our case we have forgotten a lot of the same memories.

What's really frustrating is that the memories are not gone completely; there is a ghost of the event, person, place or thing floating around in our heads, but a clear recall is pretty elusive.

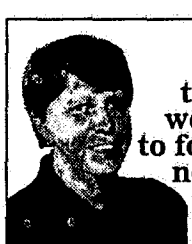

I'm pretty good at remembering numbers. I can remember telephone numbers of friends from my teenage years. I remember the license plate numbers of most of the cars we have owned. I can clearly remember our first telephone number and I can tell you the street numbers of every place that Henry and I have lived in the last 33 years. I just cannot tell you the name of any of the streets.

Henry, on the other hand, remembers all the streets. Between the two of us we can tell you various places we have lived. I can tell you we lived at 66, 113A, 111, 124 and 27. It takes Henry to provide Clarendon, Forest Lane, Litchfield Pines, Third Street, Bowdoin and Danforth Streets. Bowdoin and Danforth were both 27 so I can usually get those two right.

Names are another thing that it takes both of us to recall. I can't tell you how many times we will see someone on television that we are both familiar with. "What is that actor's name?" one of us will ask. The other's response will be something like, "I know who he is, we saw him in Cider House Rules, but I can't for the life of me think of his name."

It will nag both of us until one of us comes up with part of the name. "Toby something, that's his name."

What has happened though, is that we have started to forget alike. It now takes both of us to recall one memory.

"That's it! Maguire! His name is Toby Maguire!"

Occasionally we will encounter someone in a store or at some event that we know, but haven't seen for sometime. We will confer on the name to see if we can remember it before we approach the person to say hello.

"Hello Richard, it's good to see you." Henry would take the lead here. "My name is Robert and it's nice to see you too."

After Robert has moved out of earshot, Henry will give me that look, the one that says "it's all your fault." Well, it's not my fault, I'm the one who remembers last names. I can't be held accountable for first names. And so it goes.

You can imagine how we do at a game like Trivial Pursuit. As a team we at least stand a chance that our combined memories will come up with a few answers. If we play each other, suffice it to say, it's a pretty dull game.

The funny thing about Henry's memory, that is fourteen years older than mine, he has no problem with the sports questions in Trivial Pursuit. He can't remember our anniversary, my birthday and on bad days, what he had for breakfast, but he knows who the Cy Young award winner was for 1962 or the batting champ of 1958.

If he had to answer a question pertaining to a movie we may have just seen, his mind is blank. Ask him who won the Super Bowl in 1990 and he'll be able to tell you that and all the details of the game.

I have no such selective memory; I can't remember anything. Long-term, short-term, in-between-term; it's gone most of the time. I know I had a childhood, I must have because I'm now an adult and I couldn't be an adult without a childhood, but I don't remember most of it.

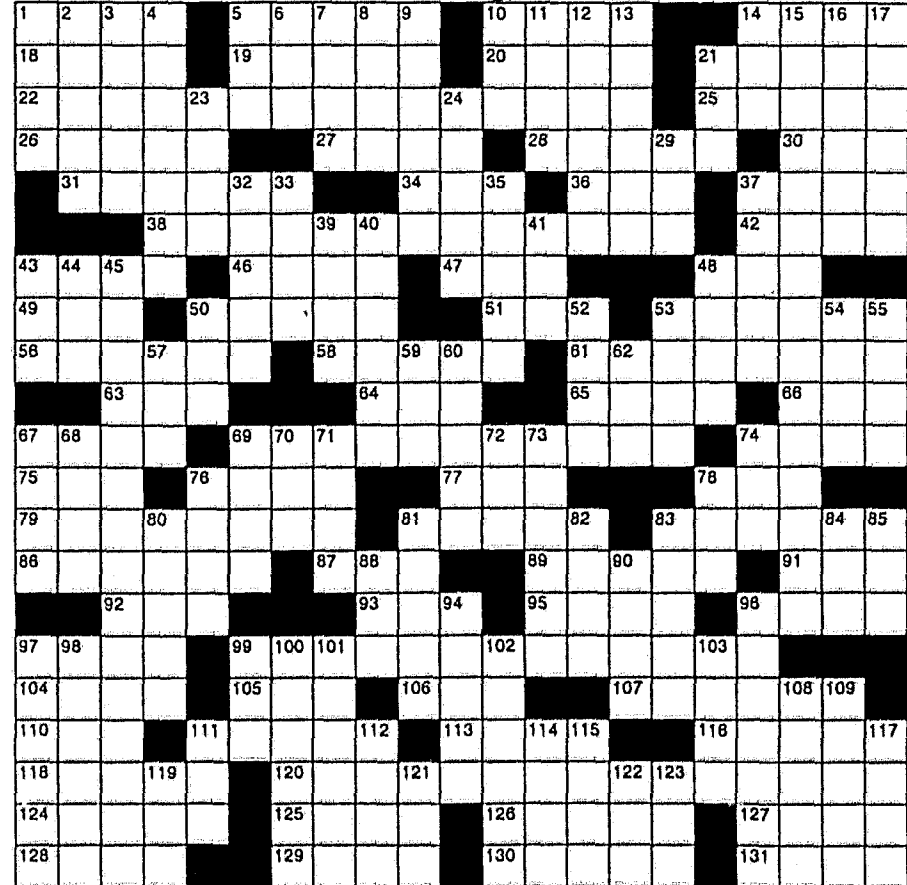

Most days I have a nagging feeling that I have forgotten something important and on most days I have, like what I did with my car keys or glasses or something I was supposed to do but didn't.

Fortunately I keep an address/appointment book with all the important information. Unfortunately, I don't remember where I put it most of the time.

Well, the way I see it...I don't exactly remember the way I see it. Maybe Henry will remember the way I see it or at least part of it. If, between the two of us we can remember the way I see it, I'll get back to you.

Bethel

by Virginia Keniston
Richard (Sonny) and Phyllis Blake are vacationing for the summer
at Littlefield's

Beaches, Greenwood. They recently attended the wedding of Lisa Stilings and Michael Chaffin. Lisa and Michael are University of Maine graduates and both lived in Orono. Now they are residing in Orlando, Fla.

Nancy Young (Jimmy's sister) is living at 1125 Brighton Avenue, Apt. 34, Portland, an assisted living home. Her telephone is 774-1909.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Still and family of Sharpsburg, Ga., have been visiting in the area for two weeks. Mrs. Still is the daughter of Kaye (Blake) and Otto Blossley of Eustis, Fla., who are here for the summer and staying with her aunt, Barbara Yates. Kaye is looking forward to attending her Gould Class of '58 Reunion.

The Birthday Ladies celebrated a July birthday on Wednesday, the 16th, at S.S. Milton's for Barbara Kuzyk. Others present were Ginny Hutchins, Mary Eichel, Libby Banc, Kaye McMillin and Mary Keniston. Three were unable to be present: Ginny Keniston, Arlene Brown and Josie Monahan.

Rosalind Chapman is recovering at her home from a recent hospitalization for a heart attack.

Margaret Record, Littleton, N.H., formerly of Bethel, visited with her sister, Betty Smith, on Saturday and attended all the Mollycodd Day activities.

Carol (Keoskie) and Jim Morin hosted a Robertson Family Reunion on July 5 at Thomas Point Beach in Brunswick. Those attending were Mary and Charles Keoskie of Brunswick and Englewood, Fla.; Henry and Betty Robertson and Helen Cummings of Bethel; Carol and Jim Morin of Topsham; Bill and Diane Keoskie of Kingfield; Vicki Robertson, Cherie Gagne and Ron Garrison of Brunswick; Jean and Glen Ramsay of Scarborough; Merry and Jack Harkens of Brunswick; Robert, Jane, Chris and Marli Cummings of Hooks, Texas; Darren, Celine, Justin and Elizabeth White of Veazie; Tim Moore of Litchfield; Martin, Heather, Josh, Robyn and Alycia White of Rumford; Shelley, Brian, Kyle and Hayley Peterson of Bethel; Jackie Schuessler of Bethel; Dan, Betsey Carly and Ross Cummings of South Portland; Dori, Tom and Clarice Diebold and friend of Cape Elizabeth; Libby and Kameron Keoskie of Kingfield; Douglas Lamarre of Brunswick; Mike Morin and Korynne Eldridge of Portland.

Relatives got reacquainted with those they hadn't seen in years and met a few new faces. The kids from Texas picked up shells to take back with them and got wet in the Atlantic, too. Others played on the playground equipment, played ball and frisbee. All partook of a great barbecue with all kinds of salads and desserts to go along with it. Two special occasion cakes were enjoyed. One to celebrate Martin White's birthday, which fell on that day, and the other in honor of Mary and Charlie's 60th wedding anniversary, which was May 28.

After the reunion, the Cummings' families went to the home of Cherie Gagne and Ron Garrison in Brunswick where they enjoyed swimming in the pool, a pizza party, horseshoes and great fun with karaoke.

Bob and Ginny Keniston left July 8 on a northbound adventure to the Canadian wilderness. They stopped overnight in Chateau Ricker, Quebec. They traveled the second day on the scenic north shore route along the St. Lawrence River, spending overnight in Baie Comeau, Quebec. Day three was a 350-mile drive through beautiful, ever-changing forestland, bogs, swamps and mountains, and, of course, several hydroelectric sites. At Manic Five is the world's largest hollow core concrete dam. The travelers arrived in Labrador City, a town built after huge deposits of iron ore were discovered a few years back. Early the next morning, it was into the bush plane and a 150-mile flight to Three Rivers Lodge for a week of fishing for brook trout, lake trout and northern pike. It was a most enjoyable week, ending all too soon. The round trip was a little over 1,800 miles. Oh, yes, Ginny caught the big one.

On July 18, Oxford Hills Duplicate Bridge played a Howell movement with five full tables. Pete Cummings and Richard Allen placed number one, Jane Fournier and Nick Karamessinis were second, third was the team of Don Johnson and Larry Holmes and coming in fourth was Adele Bendes and Marcella Allaire.

The RPCAA
Little League team finished their season with the playoff tournament on

July 13. They won the first game against an aggressive Rumford Eagles team and came up short against the Credit Union.

The 13- and 14-year-old Babe Ruth All-Stars both won their respective District 3 tournaments. The 13-year-old team, coached by Jeff Fleet, with Rumford Point players, Mike Fleet and Cody McPherson, now travel to Brunswick to participate in the state tournament. The 14-year-old team with Rumford Point players, Corey Devoe, Gary Rumley, Travis Morton and Steven Scotti now play in their state tournament in Westbrook starting July 23.

The Farm League has finished their season and started playoffs on July 18.

The RPCAA annual Field Day has been scheduled for Aug. 10 starting at 10 a.m. at the Rumford Point field. All players, coaches, parents, families and Rumford Point alumni are invited for a day of activities and food.

If you were wondering what all the police cars were doing in the area last Thursday and Friday, it was for a training exercise held at the gravel pit at Newry Corner.

Saturday, July 12, was when the Source to the Sea Canoe Trek paddled through Hanover. The travelers stopped for lunch at Moran's Landing at Bear River Rips. The lunch was provided by the folks from Stony Brook Recreation. After lunch, the group traveled on down the Androscoggin River to the Inland Fisheries and Wildlife Boat Ramp at Hanover Village where they took out for the day. On Sunday the trek regrouped at the Hanover Boat Ramp for the next section of the river that ended in Rumford.

Bill and Pam Luca have been at their cottage on South Shore Road at Howard Pond.

The Rumford Fire Department was called to Steven Richardson's property on South Shore Road early Sunday evening. Fortunately, Mr. Richardson was still at his property when a fire developed in a shed. Using a fire extinguisher, he had the fire under control before the two fire trucks could make it up the steep, winding and narrow road.

Hanover officials remind folks that their street numbers should be displayed where they will be visible from the road. Four-inch numbers on a contrasting background are recommended, and if your house is not easily visible from the street, they should be posted at the driveway entrance to the property.

I almost hit a young moose on my way to church Sunday morning, July 13, at around 9 a.m.

Call to worship was held at the Newry Community Church Sunday morning, July 13, with Pastor Rodney Hanscom at the pulpit and daughter Nancy at the organ. Thought for the day was by Sue Wight and Kathie Hanscom. Special by Gil Seeley, "Who is God? Where is God? And What is God?" Scripture readings by Owen Wight, Sue and Nancy. The message of the day was: "One Way" from Romans 8:13. "If ye live after the flesh, ye shall die; but if ye through the spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live." A prayer followed, hymns, benediction and postlude. Amen.

"You are what you eat. Of all the energy foods, honey excels, honey is nature's own food. It is sold as the bees make it. It is difficult to process honey, if water should be added to honey, it ferments and spoils. If contaminated by bacteria, it kills the bacteria, hence it is a pure food. The processing of honey consists only of decapping the comb and extracting the liquid honey by centrifugal force."

A birthday party was held at the home of Brad and Brenda Wight for their son Kurt's 18th birthday (July 19). His mother made the cakes. Shirley and Sewall Staples, South Rumford; Jason and Sarah Berry, Hanover; Retta Berry; John and Nancy Wight, Newry; Mike Fleet, Hanover; Brad, Brenda and Kevin Wight, Newry attended. Sending gifts were Ed Powers and Mike Wight, Terri Littlehale and girls. Happy birthday Kurt.

Sam and Mildred Bartholomew from Colorado are here to visit his father, Thomas Bartholomew, and family for two weeks.

their son,
Staff Sergeant
FFC Tim Hall,

his wife Nancy, and Nancy's mother, Reba Ray; Tammy Hall Presutti of Newburgh, N.Y.; Doreen Hall Harris and David Harris of Baton Rouge, La. Tim Hall has recently returned from the war in Iraq. He will now be stationed at Ft. Campbell, Ky. We are very proud of Tim and thankful that he came back safely.

Clarence Bailey is at home recuperating from surgery. Cards would be nice.

Tammy Dymont, granddaughter of Barbara and Orville Meisner of East Andover, is currently touring Ireland and Great Britain as part of a group known as People to People. She will spend three weeks staying with host families and learning about the countries and their cultures.

Ross Swain is still playing on Broadway. Broadway in Farmington that is. His hours have changed to 5:30 to 9 p.m. on Tuesdays and Wednesdays instead of Wednesdays and Saturdays. His deal of a free dessert if you can stump him on East Andover Trivia still is in effect.

Other visitors to Andover include Steve and Donna Hall, and Anita White Offhouse and daughter, Krista, who are visiting with Lester and Jean White.

The following are really true questions that were asked in various courtrooms, believe it or not. Judge: "Well, sir, I have reviewed this case and I've decided to give your wife $775 a week." Husband: "That's fair, your honor, I'll try to send her a few bucks myself." Q: What is your date of birth? A: July fifteenth. Q: What year? A: Every year. Q: How old is your son, the one living with you? A: Thirty-eight or thirty-five, I can't remember which. Q: How long has he lived with you? A: Forty-five years. Q: You say the stairs went down into the basement? A: Yes. Q: And these stairs did they go up also? More later.

See 'ya.

These days, imaging is everything.

THE CAMPAIGN FOR EXCEPTIONAL CARE RESPONDS TO THE GROWING NEEDS OF OUR COMMUNITY.

Imaging is a necessary tool in the prevention, diagnosis, and treatment of many conditions. Physicians and their patients rely on the benefits of this technology for the best medical care.

Stevens Memorial Hospital is responding to this increasing need with a major commitment to the latest imaging equipment. Our plans call for expanding and modernizing our facilities. Highlights will include a Women's Imaging Center, where women can receive mammography, bone density testing, and ultrasound in a private, comfortable space. In addition to our facilities for nuclear medicine and CAT scanning, we will build an area for a fixed MRI (magnetic resonance imaging) unit. It's a real commitment to our community.

stop. There we viewed the Kate Furbish manuscripts and watercolors of the wild flowers of Maine. Kate Furbish lived in Brunswick in the nineteenth century. Her "life work" was gathering and cataloging wild flowers all over the state. The watercolors were beautiful and the preserved specimens were in remarkably good condition after one hundred years. There were many varieties of "chickweed." I think they are all represented in my garden. We then proceeded to Earthheart Gardens in Harpswell to view the Japanese and Siberian Iris cultivated by Dr. Currier McEwen. Over the years he developed many new strains of these irises. The size and color of these plants were remarkable. Dr. McEwen died recently at the age of 100. Sharon Whitney has taken up the challenging project in Harpswell and is doing a fine job.

Saturday, July 19, was "Loon Count Day." Diane Williamson has performed this task for several years now. She and her father, "Buster," counted five loons while traveling "uplake" and 12 while traveling "downlake." No babies were seen but we know they are out there. Of course they did a little fishing on the side while they were counting.

A peregrine falcon swooped down past Sue Nelson on her deck, smashing into the large pane of glass over the French doors. He was undaunted by the blow and snagged a dove en route. This same fellow snagged two doves in our dooryard. Squab is definitely on the menu.

Congratulations to Sue and Dick Angevine on their 42nd wedding anniversary. Gifts were exchanged and Dick received a recliner from Sue, and he in return gave Sue a new lambs wool dust mop. While lounging in his chair he will direct her to any cobwebs that he thinks need her attention.

Clyde and Barbara Stratton also observed their wedding anniversary on the 19th of July. I think it was their 12th, but I'm not sure. They went down to Gorham and had dinner at Wilfred's Restaurant.

Dwight Williamson and Buster paddled up the Dead Cambridge last week. There were many "blow downs" and it was mighty tough going. They finally turned around and came home exhausted, never reaching their destination, The Forks.

The Festival Du Bois will be held in Berlin on Saturday July 26 from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. On Friday, a lively concert will be held. There will be guitars and fiddles and toe-tapping tunes. Lionel Roy of East

My friend, Jane Croteau of Groton, Mass., related to me a bluebird story. For many years she has maintained a bluebird row, following Audubon's recommendations to attract them. Even with all her diligence she continued to attract chickadees, swallows and the hated wrens. The wrens were the biggest pests of all. This year she finally was rewarded with a nesting pair of bluebirds in one of the boxes. They produced four or five eggs. She monitored the box daily and was dismayed to find that wrens had poked holes in all the eggs. Jane cleaned out the box and lo and behold the bluebirds came back and started a new family. They were successful and produced four chicks. All were fine and dandy until the nasty little wrens killed all the babies. It was very discouraging to Jane, but she will try again next year. Wrens will not be welcome. Wrens have been bothering bluebirds in several states.

The "Bird of the Week" is the Eastern Bluebird. (See page 631 in the Audubon Society, Field Guide to Eastern Birds.)

I was privileged to attend the very pretty outdoor wedding of Calla Cobb and Jeff Tyler on Saturday, July 12, at the home of Lillian Brooks on Paris Road. Jim Cobb, Calla's grandfather, gave them their vows. They held the reception under a large tent on the lawn. A beautiful wedding cake was made by Lillian Brooks. I won't go into any more detail as I am sure Calla will want to write up her own announcement.

I told Mary Cobb she must be destined to attend weddings on that date, as she was there at mine and Andy's six years ago. Tracy and Toby Walker's son, John, celebrated his fifth birthday on July 12, also, so Debbie and Owen did not get to Calla's wedding, but grandsons sort of get priority; I can't imagine why.

We have been having Jeff Tyler take down a few trees around here that threatened the roof of the house. I was happy to get the one down by the living room window but discovered too late that I miss the one near my bedroom window. Who would figure that one would get attached to a tree, for mercy's sake. I shall just have to get used to it being gone because obviously one can't put it back, but it made me stop and think about whether I wanted any more taken down. I did have a small one taken down by the kitchen window and decided I made the right choice on that one. It opens up the view of the water so I can better see the ducks, although lately there doesn't seem to be very many. I always wonder where they go to this time of year. The water is very low and looks as if it does the last of August, not July. So maybe they think it is time to start thinking about going South.

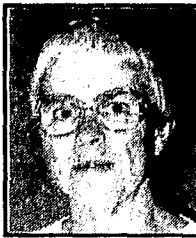

I just got a new prescription filled, and this little pill cost three dollars per pill. I certainly shall tell the doctor never again. It may help the arthritis and help me move faster but I think I can suffer a little pain and stiffness rather than put my money on that stuff. I have better uses for my money. If I stay off the computer I don't have the pain anyway, so I will just cut down on my computer time. I think it rather funny anyhow that I spend so much time on it when I was positive that I would never like one because, at my age, I figured I'd never be able to learn how to use one. Just goes to show that you can teach an old dog new tricks if it wants to learn one.

My daughter, Marcia Smith, has a new address: P.O. Box 352, Easton, ME 04740. I also have the new phone number for her. If anyone is interested in having it, please give me a call. She and Jon have an efficiency apartment while in between houses. They are looking at a house, but it has to have all kinds of approvals for this and for that and it all takes time, and they had to be out of their old one last Saturday.

I don't think the red squirrel is happy about the sudden lack of trees. He used to jump from one to the other and now he can't do that. He will just have to go the overland route.

Debbie and Owen Brown are in the process of changing their camp into a year-round home. Debbie said she hoped they got the roof on before it rained. We have had a few showers lately and the water is badly needed but not on the floor of the house.

Finnish folk group to perform

The Finnish are coming — and they will be making a joyful noise. Five Maine sites will host the American debut of a Finnish folk music group called The Laukkoski Youth Society. Dressed in colorful folk costume, the thirteen youngsters, who range in age from 11 to 16 years old, perform both traditional and contemporary Finnish dances, sing Finnish folk tunes and play the traditional Finnish folk harp known as the kantele. Their performances are accompanied by adult fiddle, accordion and kantele players. The group has recently toured in Japan and Iceland, and in June two of their members won top awards in a Finnish national kantele competition.

The Maine connection with the Laukkoski Youth Society was made by Sara Cummings-Ridge of Gray. In 2002, she attended her second session of the Ilomantsi Kantele Camp in Finland, where she met the leader and several members of the group. Cummings-Ridge, a music educator in Mechanic Falls, states: "I don't know any American teenagers who would do this," as she learned of the youngsters' willingness to dedicate school vacation time to playing kantele and practicing traditional circle dances. A rigorous public performance week for the Laukkoski Youth Society begins with their participation in a Friday night concert on July 25 at Southern Maine Technical College in South Portland at 7 p.m. This concert concludes the week-long Maine Kantele Institute which Cummings-Ridge directs and will feature performances by Institute faculty and participants. The schedule of Laukkoski Youth Society concerts is as follows: Saturday, July 26, Oxford Hills Comprehensive High School, South Paris, 2 p.m.; Sunday, July 27, Trinity Lutheran Church, South Paris, 9 a.m. and also Watts Hall, Thomaston, 3 p.m.; Tuesday, July 29, Northern Forest Heritage Park, Berlin, N.H., 3 p.m.; Thursday, July 31, Center for Cultural Exchange, Portland, 7:30 p.m. The group's tour ends with a concert at Saima Park in Fitchburg, Mass. at 7 p.m. on Friday, Aug. 1. The public is welcome at all concerts and tickets for the July 31 concert can be purchased at the door. All of the other concerts offer free admittance with an opportunity to make a freewill donation.

Sponsorship for the Laukkoski Youth Society's Maine tour is by KanteleLaulu, Inc., a Maine non-profit organization, which is also sponsoring the Maine Kantele Institute at Southern Maine Technical College on July 20 thru 26. Professional music faculty from Finland and students of the institute will be offering kantele demonstrations each evening of the institute, at the Monson Music Festival on July 19, and at the Festival of Nations at Portland's Deering Oaks Park on July 26. For more information, phone 657-6494, or go to the Web site: www.kantelelulu.com.

The itinerary for the Laukkoski Youth Society includes recreational visits to Finnish American societies in West Paris and Warren, the Maine Wildlife Park in Gray, Portland Head Light and the Old Port, L.L. Bean, a Sea Dogs baseball game, a Native American Pow-Wow and Streaked Mountain in South Paris. Accommodations and transportation for the group and for the institute's Finnish faculty are provided by participants of the Maine Kantele Institute.

Recent callers of Edith Hathaway have been Whitcomb and Mable Hathaway.

Fourth of July weekend Larry and Mary Billings watched the museum on Saturday and five people came in. This past weekend Barbara Hathaway and Kathleen Bean watched the museum and three visitors came in. The Historical Society does our area proud. It reflects character and values well. The society's collections are broad-based and varied. Everyone should find something of interest in our museum. Curator Larry Billings has donated some things: a welcome sign, a large tin, a small tin and some toys and a model microscope. Regarding exhibits on wood products, remember the clothespin sign, a large photo wall size on a mill yard, and many photos of operations in Stowell's Mill. Plan on visiting the museum some Saturday afternoon, 1 to 4 p.m.

West Paris

Hello folks. Thought you might like to see what "Bernadette" the bear looks like.

Went out to take a picture of the delphiniums and wound up taking a bear picture instead. As the grandkids say, "She is awesome!" Hurried back into the house after snapping one quick photo. As myopic (near sighted) as bears are, she had her eye on me and I did not linger very long. The lens was set for a close-up of the flowers, so it brought the bear into real good focus, too.

Last Monday night at Franklin Grange in Bryant Pond we presented a 55-year sticker and certificate to Anna Woodworth for continuous Grange membership (and all the hard work done for the Grange over the years). Congratulations, Anna.

Also at Franklin Grange, a Certificate of Appreciation was presented to Alice Hoyt, DWA chairman, for all her hard work and endeavors for the Grange. Congratulations, Alice.

This past week was also the Norway Summer Festival, July 11 to 13, at which Lona Bedard, Mellie Dunham's granddaughter, received a certificate in commemoration of Mellie Dunham and all that he had meant (and still does) to the town of Norway.

Mellie was our own champion fiddler and also made the famous snowshoes for Admiral Perry, who trekked to the North Pole in 1909, arriving there in April of that year.

I was privileged to be part of Saturday's festivities, doing a couple of my poems, one of which, "Nature's Healing Hand," has won a place in the Famous Poets Society contest and is now published in their "Anthology of Famous American Poems."

Hope you all have a good weekend and all make an effort to go to the Waterford Fair — known to us "old timers" as the "World's Fair," when we were growing up. It is still a special highlight of our summer. Come on out and show your support. Friday is Senior Citizens Day with music at noon by the Richard G. Felt Band. Hope to see you all there.

See you next week.

I am going along with her and also her mother, Kellie Record, and her sister, Jessie Hart. Sara is my granddaughter. Will get back to business writing the news later this month. Another week has gone by and July is half-gone already — time goes too fast.

Albert and Marie Curtis, their two grandsons, William and Albert III, and I went up to Eustis to the Cathedral Pines Camping Area Friday night. Lillian and Glenn Strait and Melanie and Stephen Damon and children, and Karen and Gary Green and son joined us up there. On Sunday, we went to the Wyman family reunion at the picnic area at the Cathedral Pines. We had our business meeting and elected officers, played bingo and also had an auction of white elephant things. The door prize was won by Albert Curtis III.

Betty Curtis went with Carl last week. They returned home Friday night. Raven Curtis of Clinton and her daughter, Jeselle, are visiting at Carl and Betty Curtis' for a few days.

Mandie Curtis took my dog, "Muffins," and clipped his hair. He looks real good. Thanks Mandie.

Cali and Ani Inman of Albany visited their grandparents, Milton, and Eleanor Inman, one day.

Robert Holt of Windsor visited his parents, Leonas and Fay Holt. He also called at Ann and Brad Payne's. They had been haying at the Holt farm.

Brad Payne and friend are painting Payne's House.

Ann Payne took her mother to Portland to her eye doctor again.

Steve Lyons and his wife have been at their cottage recently.

Brad Payne went to the Oxford 250 race.

Joan Morgan had a Pampered Chef Party. Ann Payne attended it.

Quote of the week: "To be of use in the world is the only way to be happy."

That's it. Have a safe and happy week.

Albany

by Dana & Sheila Dyke
Greetings and hello from Albany Township. We hope that everyone has had a lovely summer so far. We've been very busy, but, loving every minute of it.

This past weekend we went with most of our CMA chapter to Contoocook Fairgrounds, just outside of Hopkinton, N.H., for a CMA rally, where we got to have fellowship and fun with other members across New England. We saw many familiar faces (and learned names, too) and met other friends as well. It's very uplifting to be with others with the same beliefs as yourself, and seeing how they put what they love to work into bringing others in, too. We arrived at about 9:30 or 10 on Friday night, after losing our guide in the traffic outside of Concord. (We've given Carlton grief over this already; we won't rehash it now.) Saturday, we had the bike games, which we all entered and had a great time. Pam and Carlton Rugg won second place in the toilet paper toss; they had to toss a roll of toilet paper through the seat of a toilet (rather dignified, don't you think?). Pam drove her bike, with Carlton on the back (we hope someone got pictures), and Carlton hit the rim. They took home a nice trophy for that. We won first place in the potato-in-the-hay race, which was something like musical chairs, only on bikes. When the signal to stop was given, the passenger had to jump off the bike, dive into a pile of hay, find a potato, and then run back to the bike before the others. We believe there were about 15 other couples playing. Dyana got into fourth place, and did a great job. We hadn't really been sure we won until one of the ladies overseeing the events told us — twice. We got a very nice trophy, which is sitting on our mantle next to David's fourth-place trophy from the Blue Nose Rally.

After the games (and Sheila and Dyana washed the hay chaff off), we had dinner, and more fellowship. Awards were given out that evening before services, and then after service (we do love to hear Rick Steffy, our regional evangelist, preach) most of the camp went out for — you guessed it — an ice cream run. We returned to a campfire, toasted marshmallows, and a sing-along. Sunday was basically a brief service, cleanup and good-byes. We did buy a lot from the goodies table — T-shirts, stickers, that sort of thing — and bought a book by Barbara Hansen about her experience with child abuse. We haven't opened it yet to begin reading — it's quite emotional, and we spoke with Barbara during the rally (she's a member of CMA) and it's still quite an emotional topic for her. Tough to read, we're sure. We then all mounted our bikes, and took all day to get home (we stopped many times for lunch, breaks, and, hey, ice cream). It was one of the best weekends we've had in a long time.

MOLLYOCKETT DAY 2003, "THE GOOD OLD DAYS"
The sun looked down on a large crowd Saturday at Mollyockett Day in Bethel. The Harley Owners Group (HOGs) joined the usual lineup of floats and other vehicles in the parade, which wound around the common. At top left, Joe Bailey and his crew accept their award for first place in the float competition. Bottom right, Miss Mollyockett Amy Gaidis holds her trophy, presented by last year's Miss Mollyockett, Angela Farnum.

Now down to Albany business. Don't forget about the supper this Thursday night at the church, beginning at 5:30 p.m. As always, we expect that there will be wonderful casseroles, beans, breads, and pies. The cost is $6 per adult, $3 per child. The next supper will be Aug. 7, then the 21st. We think that the yard/bake sale will be going on at the same time, but, we're not 100 percent sure on that.

The Phil House concert will be on Sunday, Aug. 3, at the church, beginning at 7 p.m. We understand that he is a very talented player, and we're looking forward to hearing him play. Tickets are $6 per adult, $3 per child (if we recall correctly).

West Paris

by Joyce Lamb
Summer has arrived to stay, hot days and cool nights with appropriate temperatures for vacationers. Gardens and flowers are doing well but are a bit later than previous years.

Vince and Beverly Stevens were at Five Islands, Georgetown, on Saturday.

Myrtle Cadenelli and I camped for a few days this week. The weather was about perfect and both got a good rest and did a lot of reading. Mother Duck and six little ones visited several times. They were not to be fed for they can become a nuisance to everyone. The loons were calling after dark. They could be scary if one did not know where the sound was coming from.

On Sunday, July 27, Joseph Perham will be the speaker at the West Summer Universalist Church. The organizer is Harriet Rudd. Services are at 11 a.m. followed by a social hour.

Allen and Myrna Lamb visited over the weekend on their way home from a trip to Newfoundland.

Amber Lamb and friends visited her grandmother on Sunday.

Buffy's hair is beginning to show a little growth on his body. He is now a small kitty after being such a large one all his life. By winter he should be a big boy again.

East Stoneham

by Eleanor Nelson
Hi readers, I don't have very much news again this week. I have spent many days at the lab and doctors lately. I heard that the Pig Roast was very successful and good again this year. This was put on by the Stoneham Knight Riders at Stoneham Fire Station on July 12.

This past week, Sharon Berman and Nawal Traish from Arlington, Mass., have been at their cottage at Lake Keewaydin, also Cheryl and Lindsey Barnard from Seaford, Va.

Troy Nelson got some nice trout a couple days ago and we had them for breakfast one morning. Thanks, Troy, they were awfully good.

Girl Scout Troops 58/580 are still collecting returnables at Lovell. The girls and leaders would like to thank everyone for their support making it possible for their wonderful trip to Montreal on June 20 to 23. All troops will be participating in the Old Home Day Parade on July 26.

We had some good news. Our grandson in Virginia, Josh Barnard, son of Cheryl and Paul, made the dean's list and honor roll at the Old Dominion University in Virginia for the fourth quarter of his freshman year.

I don't think I mentioned this before, but found out that Olive Stearns Morrill passed away recently. She used to be our neighbor here in East Stoneham across from my folks' farmhouse. Our sympathy and prayers go out to her family and friends. She had been living with her daughter in Massachusetts the past couple of years.

Waterford

by Rockie Graham
I want to begin my column this week by apologizing for the first paragraph of last week's column. It was something I wrote out of anger and then deleted. It was never meant to make it into print. I am not sure yet how it did. David even saw me delete it. In any case, I apologize for any upsets it may have caused.

Much of my original column also seems to have disappeared and other information appeared. I guess I have not figured out this new computer program, yet. In any case, most of you readers already know the news that David and I were on the front page of Monday's paper and the story of our love went to the A.P. and then to Reuters. Dave — because he was home in Waterford and I was at Lake Umbagog — fielded radio reporters from all over the world. There was even an Internet site to read about us — type in either David Hart and Rockie Graham or Dump Weddings. Quite the story. Who knew when Deena Bennett first approached us about an interview that it would go so big. The publicity

THE JACOB HOLT HOUSE
built on Railroad Street prior to 1858, is shown above as it looked about 1890. Holt was a carpenter and his son Thomas succeeded him as owner. Just a month before he died in 1889, Thomas Holt, a noted Maine architect, sold the premises to William and Eliphalet Whitney, two brothers who operated a monument business on the site of Main Street's Finish Line Pizza. From the Whitney family, the property passed to James and Pauline Browne in 1953. They sold to Clinton and Jean Jenkins in 1960. Frank Lowell was the next owner. He cut the trees, demolished the house, and built a shopping center building that is currently the Bethel Family Health Center. This photograph is among thousands that can be found at the Bethel Historical Society, which also possesses an outstanding collection of manuscripts, books, documents, and artifacts relating to western Maine and northern New Hampshire. The society is currently raising funds to support its Regional History Center and plans an addition to the 1821 O'Neil Robinson House on Broad Street, which now houses exhibit galleries, offices, and the museum shop. Completion of this project will provide for improved storage space and greater access to collections as well as rooms devoted to educational activities, genealogical and historical research, and traditional crafts. Once the center is fully operational, it will offer an expanded series of lectures, special events, conferences, courses, seminars, and publications. To learn more about this project, call the society at 824-2908 or (800) 824-2910, e-mail address: info@bethelhistorical.org or visit the Web site at www.bethelhistorical.org has meant that many are bringing us bottles to raise the money for our honeymoon. Thanks to one and all. We are one-third of the way there. We also have Inside Edition calling us about an exclusive. All this hasn't gone to David's head at all, yet, all of our Waterford friends will be invited to the wedding as well as Bethel, Hanover and Newry. We will let all know when the date is as soon as we decide. We are waiting to save the money, first.

Wilkins Community House will hold the next of their series of summer breakfasts on July 30 from 7:30 to 10 a.m. The cost is $4.50 for adults, $2.50 for children five to 10 and free for those under five. On the menu are: eggs, pancakes, bacon, sausage, muffins, doughnuts, coffee and juice.

Baxter Klepinger is still missing. He is a chocolate brown American Water Spaniel. Arnie and Hanna Klepinger would really like to see him come home. If you see him, call 583-2286 or 846-6588.

Don't forget the Waterford World's Fair. It is coming right up and has fun for all ages. Hope to see you there.

I know we are sometimes hard to reach, but if you have some news you'd like to see in the paper, please keep trying to reach me. The phone number is 743-583.

Members of the Cross Country Quilters would like to extend their thanks to all those who helped make this year's show a success. The next show will be held in June 2005.

From the

Mahoosuc Arts Council

Join the Bellamy Jazz Band in concert on Sunday, July 27, on the Bethel Common as part of the Libbie Goodridge Kneeland Memorial Summer Series presented by the Mahoosuc Arts Council.

Since 1981, the Bellamy Jazz Band has delighted Maine and New England audiences with its engaging mix of traditional New Orleans, Chicago Jazz and Swing and humor. A Maine favorite, this eight-piece band is a consistent winner of popularity awards offering instrumental virtuosity, vocals, light-hearted humor and nostalgic storytelling. These guys play a loose, jammin' Chicago-style jazz ranging from Preservation Hall to Count Basie with an enthusiasm that makes it all new again. Jazz came roaring out of the twenties with a wild vitality and irreverence, and Bellamy aims to keep it that way.

All concerts in the series begin at 4 p.m. and run sixty to ninety minutes in length and are free to the public. Upcoming concerts will feature New York-based, Rumford-raised, jazz vocalist Rebecca Martin on Aug. 3 and the sweet female barbershop harmonies of The Molykett Chorus on Aug. 24. The rain site is Bingham Auditorium on Church Street at Gould Academy.

From the

IT'S A FEELING OF BEING POWERLESS BY YOURSELF. OF DEPENDING ON OTHERS TO FIGHT FOR YOUR RIGHTS. IT'S BEING SCARED AND AFRAID, NOT KNOWING WHAT TOMORROW WILL BE LIKE. IT'S WORKING TILL YOU HURT AND ALWAYS COMING UP SHORT.

Real words. From a bitterly real place. The state of American poverty. Where 33 million people one out of every eight Americans struggle with uncertainty. Where one out of every ten families in America, more working families than ever before, labor to be free, only to remain trapped. And three out of every four children in poverty watch someone go to work, hoping for a better return, only to find there's not enough to keep hunger and sickness away. And as their dreams of a secure tomorrow fade, so do those of this nation.

POVERTY
America's forgotten state.

More than a thousand members strong, the Bethel Historical Society, founded in 1966, is western Maine's largest and most comprehensive full-time historical agency, dedicated to collecting, preserving, and interpreting the regional past for present and future generations. For over thirty-five years, the society's activities have included lectures, exhibits, special events, heritage festivals, workshops, conferences, school and educational programs, and publications. Since 1974, the society has operated from its Broad Street headquarters, the Dr. Moses Mason House, a period house museum and research library. In 1999, it opened the O'Neil Robinson House (next door) to the public for an expanded exhibit program, museum shop space, and administrative offices. Through the years, the society's achievements have been recognized by a number of state and national organizations.

A float on the theme "These Are Our Good Olde Days" and a Non Scientific Straw Poll on Democratic Presidential Contenders were the highlights of the Oxford County Democrats presence at Bethel's Mollykckett Day on Saturday, July 19. Senator Bruce Bryant was aboard the float along with a bevy of future political leaders including his daughters Logan, Larissa and Lanette, Kendra Carter, granddaughter of Tim and Jodi Carter of the float committee, Molly Siegel, Abby, Rachel and Rose Goldberg, and Ben Shimamura. Tim Carter was the driver and the trailer was loaned by the Carter Farm in Bethel. According to County Chairperson Cathy Newell, the float was in the tradition of old-time Democratic floats in the Mollykckett Day parade, including "Miz Lillian and the Peanuts" and former Bethel and Oxford County Chairperson Paul McGuire's papier mache Donkey which made several appearances.

The Oxford County Democrats booth on the common featured a Free Raffle and Non Scientific, Non Binding, Straw Poll which encouraged citizens of all ages to indicate their preference among the nine declared candidates for the Democratic nomination in 2004, as well as other undeclared prospects. New Englanders John Kerry and Howard Dean gathered the most votes from the 97 participants, with Kerry at 30 and Dean at 29. Carol Mosley Braun was a surprise third-place finisher with 12, due in large part to the enthusiastic support from several of the young float-riders, anxious for a female president. Others were in single digits.

Raffle winners were Jan Stowell of Bethel, winning the planter donated by Ginger Kelly; Frank Gehring of Oakland, winning the Stony Brook Campground gift certificate donated by Shirley Powell; Richard Doherty of Rumford, winning the Molly Ivins video donated by Miriam Laster; and Jodi Carter, winning the patriotic napkin collection donated by the Norway Democrats.

Anyone interested in becoming involved in future activities of the Oxford County Democrats may contact Cathy Newell, 875-2116, or cathy@megalink.net.

KATHLEEN W. O'LEARY

Kathleen W. O'Leary, 94, of Norway, formerly of North Waterford and South Paris, died Friday evening, July 18, 2003, at the Norway Rehabilitation Center.

She was born in Lewiston on March 7, 1909, a daughter of Walter and Faye Bickford Lord. She attended local schools and Bridgton Academy. As a teenager she was a participant in the Crocker River Winter Carnival and was elected Carnival Queen in the 1927 event. It was a close competition that year and her friends advised her the only way to win was to do the ski jump. With much fear she did it successfully and won the event. As a teenager she moved to Hanover, N.H., and worked at the Hanover Inn. While there she met Lawrence O'Leary, who was a student at Dartmouth College. They fell in love and married in Conway, N.H., on March 30, 1932.

During the early years of marriage they alternated summers and winters in New Hampshire and Florida, obtaining work in resort hotels in Breton Woods and Miami. She was busy learning the hotel business from the ground up, and for a period of time she was manager of the Lakeside Apartment Hotel in Miami Beach.

In August 1947, the O'Learys purchased a large residential home in Waterford. They operated it as a guest home known as Barberridge. It involved cooking meals for "company" three times a day in busy seasons. Her husband began to teach at the new Waterford Memorial School. It necessitated a cutback in operations at Barberridge, but she continued in a limited way to practice the hospitality that the business required.

In 1956 her husband died of cancer and in 1959 she sold Barberridge and leased a lot in North Waterford from her sister, Josephine Sanderson, where she lived in her own trailer home. She worked two summers as a clerk-receptionist at Papoose Pond Resort in Waterford. Later she obtained an apartment in South Paris before moving to the Norway Rehabilitation Center in 1997.

Through the years she was an avid bird watcher. She made sure that during the winter months her feathered friends did not go hungry. She was a good neighbor to the folks who lived nearby and often made her car available to transport other folks on errands. In those South Paris years she was a regular patron at McDonald's for breakfast.

Survivors include a brother and sister-in-law Stanley and Louise Lord, a sister-in-law, Christie; and nieces and nephews. She was predeceased by brothers Myron and Lee and sisters Josephine, Gwendolyn and Faye.

Funeral services were held Wednesday, July 23, at Weston-Chandler Funeral Home, South Paris, with interment in Hillside Cemetery, East Stoneham.

He was a born again Christian since 1965, loved his family, was an avid baseball fan and enjoyed hunting and fishing and working in the woods.

He is survived by his wife, Sylvia (Drake) Allen of West Paris; one son, Dennis and his wife Diane of West Paris; two daughters, Barbara Keach and her husband Bill of West Paris and Dawnetta Hodgkins and her husband Victor of South Paris; one brother, Chester Allen and his wife Emily of Richmond; two sisters, Irene Richardson of Oxford and Ethel Cross of Sterling, Alaska; seven grandchildren and one great-granddaughter. We would like to sell our inventory down, as we will be doing some repairs inside the warehouse. We do realize that in most cases 10% is not a huge discount, but on our already low prices, it's huge! Our furniture is 100% solid red oak, Amish made, and has a great quality finish. Our service is the best and our prices are already the cheapest in-state on solid oak furniture. We were the first to bring Amish furniture to this state, so come check us out and buy where the dealers buy.
We are located in Norway, One block off Main Street, Behind WOXO and J.R.'s Redemption. Large blue barn, follow state signs.
